GEMA

For all music lovers

www.gema.de

How we helped

The GEMA is a government-mandated body in Germany which licences usage rights stemming from authors' rights. It collects and distributes royalties for composers, lyricists, and publishers who are members of the organisation.

Our mission was to make nearly 100 years worth of music accessible through a new internal search service.

In the past, service centre agents had to tediously log in to several different systems to retrieve a particular piece of information and collect them manually. The aim of this undertaking was to assist personnel better through one unified interface.

Not every business problem can be solved through technology – but some definitely can.

Let's have a chat about your specific requirements, and we'll see if we can help to fuel your vision with life.
